COUNT MARCO

Are You a Slobby Venus Winner

My much-coveted award is once again being presented. Because so many of you qualify, I have extended the list of categories.

If you recognize yourself you may be the unlucky recipient of my Slobby Venus Award.

I hereby award my valued and esteemed Slobby Venus Statuette to the following individuals and/or groups, all female:

Women fashion writers who look as if their own clothes were won in a no-holds-barred fight at a discard barrel.

The sales clerk in department stores and specialty shops who tells a customer the dress she is showing would "look divine," but judging from the poodle curls, wrong tint job, ill-fitting dress wouldn't know divine from and worn footwear, she devoid.

Women who persist in wearing colored shoes with heels too high and sizes too short. Consequently the waddle like tired old cows after a hot day's romp with the only bull in the pasture.

Women bus and taxi drivers. May I never have the misfortune to suffer the sight of them from the behind. Will the real vehicle please honk?

All female hairdressers who try to sell color or styling but need a retouch themselves, or could stand a setting.

Beauty salon managers who permit their female operators to wear rollers in their hair while waiting on patrons.

The Queen of England, who hasn't worn a stylish dress in the last five years.

Meter maids who look more as if they deserve a ticket than the vehicles they tag.

Cocktail waitresses who never smile a greeting before asking the order.

Females working behind a bar.

Females sitting on bar stools.

Females with one drink too many and one word too loud.

And any of you who wear anything resembling pants, whether they be stretch, overload Capris, slack slacks or tailored.

You, if you permit little daughters to wear anything but dresses at all times (except on the beaches, of course).

Those little cookie-pushers called Girl Scouts, in or out of uniform.

You, if you wear rollers in your hair in the presence of your husband or boy friend, or in public.

You, if you wear basic black and pearls to parties, or on the streets (except if you are in mourning).

If you find yourself a winner (or loser, really), notify me immediately and I will send you this month's award — a pig that has died of shame from so much human

Confirmation Rites for Nine Youths Set Today

Nine young people will be welcomed into membership of Seaside Community Church through the ancient Rite of Confirmation and the Laying on of Hands today.

The nine youths have completed a two-year course of study taught by the Rev. Francis A. Rath of Seaside Community Church which included intensive Bible study, practical applications of the Christian teachings, and the study of classic doctrines of Christianity. The class was formally presented to the congregation last Sunday, at which time they answered questions concerning their faith and showed competence in the basics of the faith.

Today, coming by twos, the confirmands will kneel before the altar and receive the laying on of hands as they consciously take responsibility for the vows made for them in infancy when they were baptized.

Those taking their vows will be Patrick Binford, Gary Blair, Debbie Walker, William Jones, Ronald Overholtz, Mark Rebeck, Kathy Schriener, Paul Wheeler, and Becky Sheeley.

A reception for the confirmands and their families will be held immediately after the service of worship, sponsored by the Church's Senior Youth Fellowship.

Red Cross To Honor Volunteers

One of the most unusual fashion shows of the Spring season will be held Wednesday at Southern District Red Cross Service Center when the Red Cross honors volunteers from Torrance, Lomita, Gardena, San Pedro, and the Palos Verdes Peninsula.

The familiar story of how Red Cross volunteers serve their fellow men will be told in a fashion parade featuring the uniforms worn by Red Cross volunteers since 1863.

"Through the Years" is the theme of the program which is being moderated by Mrs. Robert F. Lande of Palos Verdes. Awards will be presented during the program.

With the exception of a costume which might have been worn by Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross, and Dr. Appia, who first wore the Red Cross insignia during the Prussian-Danish War, costumes to be shown actually belong to Los Angeles area volunteers whose service dates to the turn of the century.

Several of the uniforms worn during World War I are from the personal collection of Mrs. O. C. Welbourn of Los Angeles, who is vice chairman of the Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter's volunteer recognition program.

Awards will be presented to volunteers who have completed their 25th, 20th, 15th, 10th, and 5th years of service to the Red Cross. Mrs. K. L. Haar of Wilmington is arrangements chairman for the luncheon.

Executive Speaks At Awards Event

Norman Matson, chief engineer and personnel director at Associated Aero Science Laboratories, was the guest speaker March 23 at the annual awards banquet of the Northrop Institute of Technology's chapter of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

JAY BEASLEY WORKS FOR YOU NOW!

AND AGAIN ON APRIL 12th, I PRESENT MYSELF FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

... HERE ARE SOME OF THE PROJECTS I WILL WORK FOR IN THE FUTURE ...

1. to build a new Central Library, with a minimum capacity of 180,000 volumes, selected to serve the special needs of the large numbers of professional and technical people in our community.
2. to improve our bus system as fast as possible, incorporating the use of small buses to develop a fast shuttle service within the City of Torrance.
3. to build and improve more primary and secondary streets to provide adequate transportation.
4. to complete our Civic Center Complex by building a new City Auditorium, Music Hall and Sports Arena... all geared to meet the specific needs of our growing community.
5. to maintain a stable, progressive City Government to attract new industry and business, so that we can eventually lower our city tax rate.

BY DOING ALL THESE THINGS WE CAN CONTINUE TO BUILD A DYNAMIC AND PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITY WHICH WE CAN ALL ENJOY IN EVER GREATER DEGREE.
